Western Financial Group is committed to cultivating a workplace where equity thrives, and all team members feel respected, valued, and empowered to contribute. A cornerstone of our efforts is our network of seven Employee Resource Groups (ERGs), which play a vital role in shaping an inclusive culture and driving strategic impact. These ERGs are employee-led and serve as networks within Western where team members with common interests or identities, including women and gender-diverse individuals, can connect, learn, develop new skills, and drive positive impact. Western is also proud of our Women in Leadership program, which is designed to empower women across the organization by promoting equitable access, developing leadership potential, and fostering a supportive community. We actively engage male allies as partners in building a culture of inclusion within our organization, recognizing that gender equity drives collective success.
